Milam Demo Resolutions Rap Officials

The Milam County Democratic Executive Committee, meeting Tuesday night, passed resolutions calling for "an immediate, full and open explanation by all concerned . . . in the insurance stock fraud scandals" and opposing passage by the Senate of the House version of the tax bill.

Both resolutions were signed by Roy Law, chairman and Oscar A. Zott, secretary, of the Committee.

The resolution calling for explanations by state officials also asks for "the immediate resignation of Dr. Elmer Baum as the Chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee" and that "his nomination to be a member of the State Banking Board be withdrawn and removed now."

In a speech to representatives in the Texas House Thursday, House Speaker Gus Mutscher denied any link between alleged quick-profit stock deals and passage of two bank deposit insurance bills in 1969.

Law told The Herald that Mutscher's speech would have no effect on the text of the Committee's resolutions, stating that copies of the resolutions had been sent to State Rep. Dan Kubiak and State Sen. Murray Watson.

The resolution stated "the people demand that no politician or any other person involved, directly or indirectly, in the governmental affairs of our State and Party take any advantage of his position of trust and responsibility so as to bring private profit to himself, his family, or those in any wise connected with him."

The resolution added, "... we feel that personal integrity and honesty must be restored and maintained in all political offices in this State, from the highest to the lowest, and the same rules of conduct and morality must apply to men and women in public office as to the average citizens."

The other resolution noted that the "so called" tax bill passed by the House "places an unfair proportion of the total demand for new taxes on the people by way of consumer taxes."

The resolution continued, "It is the judgment of this committee that special interests in particular, the power lobby, have all but taken over our State government and that much of what is produced by way of legislation at the Capitol Building in Austin is pure garbage and a sham."

The resolution urges Sen. Watson to vote against the bill if it comes up for consideration, and to "do everything within his power to help defeat such bill and pass a fair and equitable tax bill."

The resolution commended Rep. Dan Kubiak for his stand against the House tax bill, and urged him to work for passage of a substitute measure.

Building permits were off to a slow start for the year with only $104,100 in permits issued during the first quarter of 1971, according to records at City Hall.

Light Vote Seen In City Election

Election officials are expecting a light vote in Tuesday's city election in which three candidates are unopposed for re-election to the City Council.

Robert Clark, Lawrence Zott and Starrett Hickman all seek re-election to their posts as City Councilmen.

Polls at City Hall will be open from 8 a.m. until 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 6. B. J. Matocha will be election judge.

Smallest election turnout in city history was in 1967 when 93 votes were cast in an unopposed election. Last year when three candidates ran unopposed for city council 118 votes were cast.

Votes will be canvassed by the city council at a regular meeting Tuesday night after polls are closed.

Construction To Start On SW Water Well

Low bidders on construction of the Southwest Milam Water Supply Corp. rural water system are conferring this week with project engineers to pare down costs on the 189 mile project. Work is expected to start within 30 days.

Bids, opened last week, exceeded available funds by about 10 percent, but Henry Ivey, FHA supervisor for Milam County, said it appeared that slight changes in specifications would bring costs down to the $900,000 FHA loan and grant total.

Low bidders were Lanford Drilling Co. of Shreveport, La., $39,000 for well and related equipment, and SAAC Construction Co., $880,000 for distribution lines.

Ivey said a conference between engineers and Lanford Drilling Co. had shaved $6,000 off the original bids by allowing substitute well equipment.

"Many times a contractor can get the same quality equipment as specified by engineers plans at a lower price from his regular supplier. This was the case with some of the well equipment," Ivey explained. He said they expected to find similar savings in negotiations with SAAC Construction.

Ivey said they anticipated that work would start on the well within 30 days and on the pipeline within 60 days.

B. B. McNulty, president of the corporation, said plans call for the system to have 189 miles of distribution lines. It will supply water to some 15 rural communities.

The well will be located on the John D. Yoakum property, west of Milano. Storage tanks will be on the Lester Williams property at Sandy Creek, the Lee Roy Caffey property in the Salty community, the Vera Shaffer property at Hanover, the Ray Adams property south of Thorndale and the Trimm property off Farm Road 908 south of Rockdale.

Although last week's bids were only for the original 15 community project, an addition is now in the planning stages to be financed under a separate FHA loan. The extension would serve the communities of San Gabriel, Liberty Hill, Tracy, Lilac, Hare, Detmold, Sandoval, New Bern, Laneport, Sharp and New Friendship.

Clues Sought In Daylight Robbery

Milam County Sheriff's Department is investigating the daylight robbery of the Clifford Angell home on Route 2 Wednesday.

The robbery is believed to have occurred between 12 noon and 3 p.m. while the Angells were gone from home. Thieves broke into a back door and took household furnishings and personal belongings valued at around $1400.

Sheriff Carl Black said a $600 console television set was stolen along with clothes, boots, guns, and other items.

Black said the "stripping job" was similar to others reported recently in neighboring counties, where thieves entered empty homes and stripped them of furnishings.

at the Angell home during the time the robbery took place, but reports told of a car seen in the vicinity before Wednesday, and some farm hands reported seeing a car traveling north that afternoon.

Now

Reaction to the conviction and imprisonment of Lt. Calley is predictable. Americans never like a man to be loaded with responsibility that he only carries in part.

Interest turns now to the military trial of Col. Oran K. Henderson, brigade commander of which Calley's infantry company was a part. Henderson is accused of covering up the fact that My Lai occurred. He pleads innocent to charges and all specifications.

No matter how his trial develops (one such charge against a higher ranking officer was dropped), Americans will feel that Calley was unjustified at least and out of control at worst, but hardly responsible for the position in which unit orders placed him.

NOW-NOW-NOW

As a matter of fact, NOW was a battery commander in a unit at Fort Sill in 1954. And considering the precedent Calley's conviction establishes, it would be a difficult task to command a line unit even in peacetime, let alone in combat.

If we eliminate war, fine. But man has been at war with himself, let alone others of his kind, since he organized society. And some of his number will require or demand "satisfaction" even now as war ultimately threatens the globe.

The military operates on the principle of "chain of command" and Lt. Calley's unit was sent to My Lai. His personal actions most likely were not ordered, but somebody shares responsibility for that mission leading to the My Lai massacre.

Battles during the European Campaigns of World War II allowed taking no prisoners, which meant unarmed soldiers who were captured were done away with. The Germans in 1938 ordered every man, woman and child shot in Lidice, Czechoslovakia, because an officer had been importuned by one of the residents. The examples of horror in war are endless.

NOW-NOW-NOW

It is certain public opinion won't let Lt. Calley stand convicted alone. Opinion may not even allow the conviction to stand.

The Army now acknowledges something horrible happened in My Lai in 1968. Public conscience just won't let Calley take the rap alone.

A 50 percent increase in District Court indictments and county court cases since 1966 was noted. Williamson County presently has a County Attorney and Asst. County Attorney, but commissioners indicated that the post of Asst. County Attorney would be abolished if the legislature approves the bill.

Milam Demo Resolutions Rap Officials

The Milam County Democratic Executive Committee, meeting Tuesday night, passed resolutions calling for "an immediate, full and open explanation by all concerned . . . in the insurance stock fraud scandals" and opposing passage by the Senate of the House version of the tax bill.

Both resolutions were signed by Roy Law, chairman and Oscar A. Zolt, secretary, of the Committee.

The resolution added, "... we feel that personal integrity and honesty must be restored and maintained in all political offices in this State, from the highest to the lowest, and the same rules of conduct and morality must apply to men and women in public office as to the average citizens."

The other resolution noted that the "so called" tax bill passed by the House "places an unfair proportion of the total demand for new taxes on the people by way of consumer taxes."

The resolution urges Sen. Watson to vote against the bill if it comes up for consideration, and to "do everything within his power to help defeat such bill and pass a fair and equitable tax bill."

The resolution commended Rep. Dan Kubiak for his stand against the House tax bill, and urged him to work for passage of a substitute measure.

County Asks For DA

Williamson County Commissioners meeting in Georgetown last week announced support for a bill asking that a district attorney be appointed for the 26th Judicial District (in Georgetown). A 50 percent increase in District Court indictments and county court cases since 1966 was noted. Williamson County presently has a County Attorney and Asst. County Attorney, but commissioners indicated that the post of Asst. County Attorney would be abolished if the legislature approves the bill.

Responsible Politics....

The Milam Democratic executive committee early last week came down hard on the Texas stock scandals linking high officials of the party to a big game of "fast bucks." The resolution asks for the resignation of Dr. Elmer Baum, chairman of the Texas Democratic Party.

Speaker Gus Mutscher is in trouble at home in Washington County was well as in Austin. A coalition of Democrats and Republicans is said to be seeking to challenge his hold on the representative's seat in his district.

Democrats in El Paso came down even harder on the top party officials, naming them in a resolution similar to that by Milam Democrats, whose resolution is a political indictment of all the top figures.

One member of the Milam Executive Committee advised The Herald some members of the committee wanted to name all the figures. They settled on Dr. Baum by name.

Speaker Mutscher gave a statement before legislators last week on his position on the stock deals and denied any alleged connections with legislation passed through the Legislature in 1969 while he was speaker.

He has named a five-member committee which would investigate his activities and those of other legislators linked to the Houston-Austin-Dallas stock case under study by the Security and Exchange Commission.

It is more likely that a separate committee will do the investigating, not one of Mr. Mutscher's choosing. Milam Democrat leaders apparently agree that such a performance would be as unacceptable as the cause for the investigation in the first place.

We would call this Milam example responsible politics.

Bring On The '70s....

Congratulations to the Urban Renewal Board and agency staff for getting on with the downtown project. The contract was signed early last week.

Steps now are underway to begin the work of relocation, sale or purchase, whichever, and improvement or replacement of buildings in the nine-block area.

It will take some patience, but we have proved to have the patience which brought the downtown project, the largest single construction project in Cameron history, counting all the implications, to success.

Have patience with officials and they will work as fast and as fairly as co-operation with HUD officials will allow. The result will be a new downtown of no mean proportion.

And then bring on the rest of the 1970s.

The Diplomatic Pouch

Washington, D. C. -- The following letters were recently answered by the Department of State:

Passport for China

Recently the Department of State validated my passport to go to Mainland China. I am writing to find out if there may be a possibility that I might offer my services to my Government in some official way either as an expression of goodwill or through cultural exchange.

My visit to China would be made to meet other antique dealers in the trade in hopes that in time China would be open for the export of works of art into the United States. I am, of course, aware of the existing laws concerning bringing works of art into this country as this time.

K.G.
Atlanta, Ga.

Dear K.G.:

The Department of State favors greater academic, scientific, and cultural contacts between the people of this country and those of the People's Republic of China. We believe such contacts could lead to greater understanding and could contribute toward peace.

The Chinese Communists, however, have long opposed this kind of contact with Americans, and there are no active programs for the exchange of personnel between this country and the People's Republic of China at present.

We regret, also, that we are not in a position at this time to take advantage of your offer to serve the U.S. Government in an official way. We do appreciate very much, however, your thoughtfulness in making such an offer, as well as your interest in our foreign relations.

You mention your awareness of existing laws about the importation of art works into the United States. You might wish at some point in your travels to look into the subject of restrictions placed by the People's Republic of China on the exportation of various works of art. It is our understanding that there are restrictions on the exportation of antiques, for example.

Mail for China

Is there any statute or regulation preventing contact by a private citizen with people in nations that do not maintain diplomatic relations with the United States? I am concerned specifically with the People's Republic of China.

If possible I would like to establish correspondence with university students in Communist China. In view of recent diplomatic efforts by the Chinese, it seems faintly possible that they might be receptive to this type of dialogue.

B.M.
Ypsilanti, Mich.

Dear B.M.:

There is no U.S. statute or regulation prohibiting simple correspondence by individuals in this country with private individuals in the People's Republic of China. In the fact, the Department of State favors such contacts, whether academic, scientific, or cultural, and believes that these could promote mutual understanding and strengthen the chances for world peace. Correspondence with individuals, such as students, in the People's Republic of China is consistent with this policy.

Letters to China can be mailed in any U.S. Post Office or in a mail box. The airmail rate is 25 cents for each half ounce or a fraction thereof. In order to preclude the return of letters by the Chinese authorities, they should not be addressed to "Peiping," but, rather, to "Peking."

Additives Add Variety To Foods

Hundreds of food products line the aisles of our grocery stores. And many of these appetizing foods are available because of food additives.

Food additives are chemicals added directly to foods, either imparting a desired quality to the finished product or serving a functional purpose in the use of the food, the specialist explains.

Without the additives, much of our food would taste differently, shelf lives would be shorter, and food would be less nutritious. Since many food products do not reach the family dinner table for a year or more after packaging, they need a built-in lasting quality. The leavening must stay effective, the flavor must remain constant, and shortening must not become rancid. Food shoppers can expect these characteristics because safe food additives have been used.

The food additives used are subject to strict regulation and control. Manufacturers must test additive products for safety, and submit them for approval to the Food and Drug Administration of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

According to most food historians, salt was the first food additive. It remains today an important chemical in the food processing industry.

Easter Egg Links History To Modern Celebrations Of Spring

By Christine Laws Co. Home Demonstration Agent

What Easter celebration would be complete without the traditional Easter egg?

Although today eggs and Easter seem to be a natural pair, the egg was a popular holiday symbol long before the religious celebration of Easter. The use of the egg as a symbol of the Christian Easter probably evolved from numerous pre-Christian festivals and legends. Since Easter time coincided with the pagan spring festivals, the festive egg was a natural carryover into the Easter festivities.

Perhaps one of the oldest of the early legends is the ancient Hindu myth of the "World Egg." This story maintains that the world created itself from a giant egg which split in half -- one part forming the earth -- the other, the sky.

Throughout history, the symbolic egg keeps occurring. In early religions the egg was a symbol of the fertility of spring, and was a popular gift at annual spring festivals in Egypt, Persia, Greece and China.

Among ancient Jews, the egg symbolized deliverance from bondage in Egypt, and was part of the traditional table setting at the paschal feast.

After it was adopted by the early Christians, the Easter egg crossed many international borders with the spread of Christianity. In Easter-day games in Mesopotamia, eggs were stained red in memory of Christ's blood and a few were occasionally colored yellow and green as a tribute to spring.

Eggs assumed an important role in Oxford, England, at the annual egg feasts in the early 14th century. According to custom the townspeople abstained from eating eggs for a week beginning the Saturday before Ash Wednesday. At the end of this "cleansing week" they celebrated with a great egg feast.

In the 17th century it was customary for the people of the British Isles to write messages on eggs at Easter time and send them to distant friends and relatives. Pope Paul V, upon request, wrote a special blessing for the eggs used in Scotland, Ireland and England. In Ireland the Lenten fast is still broken at dawn on Easter day with traditional meal of eggs.

Italy is also rich in Easter egg lore. Italian families take their eggs to church on Easter to be blessed by the parish priest. At the Easter feast the next day, the hard-cooked eggs are placed on huge chargers, or platters, in the center of the table. Since the custom of paying calls on Easter Sunday afternoon is very popular throughout southern Europe, a single family may have hundreds of eggs ready. Everyone who enters the house during the holidays is offered at least one blessed Easter egg. No one may refuse this symbol of the Resurrection without offending his host.

The children of Tyrol go from farmhouse to farmhouse on Easter Eve singing carols. They carry baskets for the brightly dyed and decorated eggs with which the farmer's wives reward them for their songs.

While nearly every country has traditions and customs centering around the Easter egg, perhaps the most beautiful eggs in the world are those made in Ukraine villages. For generations, the villagers have worked out intricate designs resembling stained glass windows. Covering a single egg with these designs, a technique known as batiking, often requires several days of very patient tinting. On Easter Eve the eggs are blessed in a special ceremony in preparation for the Easter feast.

The tradition of Easter eggs migrated to the United States along with the Easter hare and the early English settlers. Another custom which crossed the seas was that of rolling colored Easter eggs.

The White House Easter egg roll was actually originated by Dolly Madison on the Capitol grounds on Easter Monday, 1810. When the children were denied the use of the grounds in 1878 during the administration of Rutherford B. Hayes, egg rolling was moved to the White House lawn.

This Easter American children will again join children throughout the world in decorating and receiving gaily colored Easter eggs. Here are some tips you might use this year to become an Easter "eggspert."

For special occasions, as well as for everyday use, it is important to buy eggs according to U.S. Department of Agriculture grade and size. You will find the highest quality eggs in cartons marked USDA Grade AA (or fresh Fancy Quality) and USDA Grade A. Only eggs carrying the official USDA grade shield on the carton have been packed under federal-state supervision.

Eggs are also graded for size as well as for quality. The sizes usually found in the supermarket are Extra Large, Large and Medium. The size of the egg does not indicate quality. Any size egg could be of high or low quality.

When you take your eggs home, you should always refrigerate them to maintain high quality.

To hard-cook eggs for immediate eating or making into Easter eggs, lower them carefully with a spoon into boiling water. Reduce the heat to simmering and cook for 20 minutes.

Plunge the eggs at once into cold water and leave until cold. Now is the time to dye your eggs. Use only pure food dyes, and carefully follow the instructions on the package. Once dyed, the Easter eggs should be stored in the refrigerator until it is time to place them in the Easter basket.

et. Then it is best to keep them away from hot places like radiators and replace them in the refrigerator for storage after the hunt is over. Eat them within a day or two.

If you have an abundance of hard-cooked Easter eggs, don't despair. Those Easter treats can easily be turned into delicious meals and snacks. The egg is a very social food and mixes well with chicken, ham, tuna, mixed vegetables, broccoli and carrots to form taste-tempting casseroles. Chopped eggs are also good in sauces, salads, dressings and sandwich fillings.

So your Easter eggs can turn into a double treat -- a beautiful surprise on Easter morning and nutrition-packed meals afterwards.

Mums the Word

Chrysanthemums in the spring? Well, they're certainly not blooming yet, but if you expect flowers this fall you'd better give them some attention now.

Garden mums don't bloom until fall because they're light sensitive -- when days get shorter and nights longer in September, they cease to grow vegetatively and begin flowering. Right now, when the situation is just about the opposite, you'll want to give some thought to clump division, new plantings and general plant care.

If you have established beds and haven't divided the clumps for two years, thin them now. Mums divided regularly are more vigorous. Divisions may be used to expand beds or start new ones.

Buy new or different varieties as small, established plants from your local garden center for planting from late April to late May.

Spring planting allows plants to become established before fall frosts, thus reducing chances of winter damage. Plants in full bloom may be purchased and planted in fall, but they'll need mulching heavily to safeguard against winter kill.

Set plants at same depth they were grown in nursery fields and water thoroughly. Follow this with regular plant care -- regular watering and insect protection.

Mums are bothered by the general range of garden pests -- aphids, thrips, mites and leaf miners. But since mums become a low priority item until they begin to bloom, you'll appreciate the advantages of a broad-spectrum garden insecticide.

To develop strong branches and good flowering plants, pinch off about one inch of stem tip two or three times during the season, up until about July 1. Start when stems are six to eight inches long and repeat when new branches, developing in leaf axils, reach six inches in length.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Bertram S. Brown, M.D., Director
National Institute of Mental Health

Drug Abuse Information

Drug Abuse is a national problem that concerns everyone. Once regarded as the vice of those who dwelled on the fringes of society, today dangerous drugs are abused by people in all walks of life from students to housewives to ghetto dwellers.

If community drug abuse programs across the Nation are to succeed in their goals of education and rehabilitation, reliable information must be put into the hands of concerned citizens everywhere.

Information must be available to answer such questions as: What substances are abused? What can parents and teachers do? What community action programs are effective?

This is why President Nixon had a Federal resource set up to serve as a focal point for public inquiries: the National Clearinghouse for Drug Abuse

Information. Operated by the National Institute of Mental Health, the Clearinghouse serves the public through three basic services: publications distribution, computer-based information storage and retrieval, and referrals.

Through its referral system, the Clearinghouse channels technical, scientific, and other inquiries of a specialized nature to appropriate Federal and non-Federal agencies who may be able to help with technical knowledge.

Through a computer data bank, information on school, community, local, and State government drug abuse programs is stored via computer and then retrieved on request. This information is used to answer questions from drug abuse program directors, teachers, school curricula supervisors, community organizers, and others who are starting or carrying on drug abuse prevention and rehabilitation programs.

Several publications on the nature and extent of drug abuse are currently available. Single copies are provided without charge. Bulk quantities are available at cost from the U.S. Government Printing Office. How may Clearinghouse publications be requested?

Simply write—a postcard will do—to the address below. To ensure that the most relevant material will be sent, it is suggested that the card note whether the requestor is a student, teacher, parent, etc. Address requests to:

Publications, National Clearinghouse for Drug Abuse Information, Box 1080, Washington, D.C. 20013.

Schigut's Now Offers Singer Dept.

Schigut's in Cameron has a reputation for good clothing, but the department store has added a new department, the only one in the Milam area.

It is a sales and service department for the famous Singer Sewing Machines, one of the best known household lines in the world.

John Schigut, manager and store owner, is taking as much an important role in the new department as Mrs. Lottie Witt, Mrs.

Louise Butler and Mrs. Frieda Smith whose sales experience in clothing and piece goods help in advising what equipment is best for making one's own clothes, curtains and whatever a Singer Sewing machine can do, which is a lot.

Schigut's features a line of Singer machines in a department near the front of the downtown Cameron store. And any model not demonstrated or on display is quickly available through Singer sources at Schigut's.

Schigut's also assures service by Marshall Flores who lives in Cameron and has a number of years experience in maintenance and repair of sewing equipment.

The name Singer is not new to Cameron. It has been 119 years since Singer started manufacturing sewing machines, the first models foot-powered instruments only a remote cousin to the ultra-modern equipment now sold at Schigut's.

"Touch and Sew" is a familiar word for the new Model 750 Singer, "Golden Touch & Sew". Its simplicity, versatility and ease of operation is tops and typical of the whole range of Singer sewing equipment.

Other models are in the Touch and Sew line, including Model 756 Special Zig-Zag, the Zig-Zag and the Deluxe Straight Stitch Touch & Sew.

These machines do it all, when it comes to sewing.

But, of course, the Golden Touch & Sew is the only model which has all the features of the 1970 line, including:

--Both built-in and interchangeable Fashion Discs, which produce almost unlimited variety of practical and decorative stitches.

--Flexi-Stitch Discs that produce stretchable stitches for knits and stretch fabrics plus intricate stitch designs, including hemstitching, feather stitching.

--One-way needle clamp that makes it impossible to insert the needle backwards.

--Two kinds of temporary stitching for speed basting or chainstitching for growth tucks and removable trims.

--Two-speed motor with a fast speed range for seams and slower range for precision control.

These are features, part or all, of the famous Singer Sewing Machine line. And Schigut's in Cameron is your Singer dealer for sales and service.

Call John Schigut, 697-3343, for more information. Better, yet, visit Schigut's.

Hog Cholera Increases Bring State Restrictions

Dr. H. Q. Sibley, Acting Executive Director of the Texas Animal Health Commission has ordered a restriction on swine movements in Texas in order to bring the present hog cholera situation under control. This restriction is imposed to implement a quarantine order signed by Mr. Joe B. Finley, Jr., Chairman of the Texas Animal Health Commission on March 22, 1971.

Effective March 29, 1971, the movement of all feeder and breeder swine within Texas will be allowed only by permit issued after inspection of the herd from which they originate.

Under the restriction, slaughter swine may be consigned directly to livestock markets for sale to slaughter or directly to slaughtering establishments.

Texas regulatory officials have enlisted the cooperation of accredited practicing veterinarians, and representatives of Texas Animal Health Commission to assist in on-farm inspection prior to show or sale of feeder pigs and breeder stock.

Special permission from the Texas Animal Health Commission must be obtained for exhibitions, shows and special feeders and breeder sales. Restrictive sanitation requirements at such points of swine concentration should minimize exposure to hog cholera.

Prior inspection and permit for movement is required for any farm to farm movement of swine. Permits for movement may be obtained by contacting a representative of the Texas Animal Health Commission or your local veterinarian.

The restriction on swine movements will be in effect for 60 days and will allow the Texas Animal Health Commission in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture to bring the current outbreak under control. The action has the support of the Texas swine industry and is being taken in the best interests of swine producers.

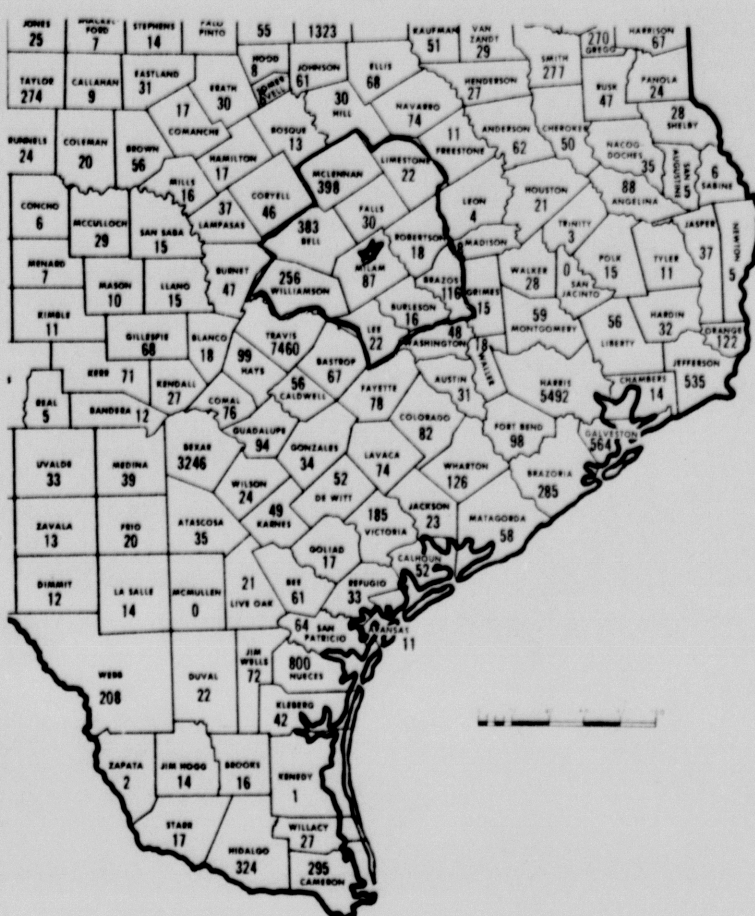

'The Carpenters' In Concert At Baylor

WACO

The Grammy Award-winning pop group, The Carpenters, will be in Waco April 21 for an 8 p.m. concert in the Tena Marrs McLean Gymnasium on the Baylor University campus.

The Carpenters recently won two Grammy Awards as best contemporary duo and best new artist for their song "Close To You." The group also was nominated in three other categories for "record of the year," "best album of the year" and "song of the year."

Tickets for the concert are now on sale in the Central Office of the Baylor Student Union Building. Only $3 and $3.50 tickets remain. Out-of-town residents wishing to attend the concert may purchase tickets by sending cash or check with a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Baylor Student Union Director's Office, Baylor University, Waco, Texas 76703. Checks should be made payable to the Baylor Student Union.

HOW MANY students from Milam County attend The University of Texas at Austin? The above map segment shows Milam and surrounding counties' enrollment. Fall semester enrollment figures showed that 34,211 of the 39,089 students attending UT Austin were from Texas. Thus, The University of Texas remains decidedly Texan. All but eight of Texas' 254 counties were represented.

New State Guidelines For Textbook Adoptions

AUSTIN

The learning rates of individual students and the cultural backgrounds of Texas' varied population groups will, for the first time in 1971, be a vital element in new state textbook adoptions.

Other "firsts" in the upcoming textbook proclamation previewed by the State Board of Education Saturday (March 27) include a call for textbooks in consumer mathematics and industrial materials and processes. Final decision on the new proclamation, which calls for text materials in 14 elementary and secondary areas, will be made by the Board at its May 3, 1971, meeting.

"The new proclamation allows more flexibility in order to meet the needs of all our students and teachers," Dr. L. Harlan Ford, Texas Education Agency assistant commissioner for teacher education and instructional services explains.

"Some groups of students, for example, are more likely to read a soft back book in preference to the more conventional version. Now we can call for both types of covers. We can also allow the publishers more flexibility in planning books for continuing programs rather than strictly by grade level."

Now, too, the individual learning patterns of children must be considered by publishers who plan to submit basal readers for both pre-primer and primer levels.

"Recognizing that each series of textbooks offered represents a specific system of teaching reading and that children's learning patterns differ, the State Textbook Committee should recommend several different systems of reading instruction in order to provide flexibility in the program and reach a greater number of children," the proclamation states.

The culture of people, both as population groups and as nations, will be emphasized in the selection of social studies geography texts for the elementary grades and for high school foreign language books in Spanish, French, and German.

The 1971 proclamation, for example, asks that language texts present culture "as an integral part of the language itself and through authentic and realistic graphic illustrations instead of stereotypes."

Members of the new State Textbook Committee will be appointed at the Board's May 3 meeting. New materials will be adopted next November 8.

The emergency care personnel must be able to make a quick survey, determine medical priority, and take the necessary life-saving measures. The school now offered in Temple, free of charge, will provide an opportunity to learn those skills.

Invited to attend this course are ambulance personnel, policemen, firemen, safety engineers, rescue squad members, nurses, public health and civil defense officials, and others interested in the care of the sick and injured.

SANTA FE DIVIDEND

The board of directors of Santa Fe Industries, Inc., has today declared a quarterly dividend of forty cents per share being dividend No. 11 on the common capital stock of the company payable June 1, 1971, to stockholders of record at the close of business April 30, 1971.

Postal Service Proposes More Rate Increases

The Postal Service has proposed to the Postal Rate Commission rate increases which would provide additional revenues of $1.45 billion during fiscal 1972.

These increases would put the postal system on a sound financial basis and shift more of the costs from the taxpayer generally to those who use the mails the most.

The proposals call for increases in virtually all mail categories except parcel post.

If, by May 15 the Rate Commission does not present to the Governors of the Postal Service a recommended decision on rate changes, it is anticipated that a temporary rate increase will be put into effect by the Postal Service.

The proposal was submitted Monday to the Rate Commission. Higher rates had been sought by the Post Office Department under both the current and previous administrations, but no action was taken.

In addition to the long-standing Postal Service proposal for a 2-cent boost for letters from 6 to 8 cents, advertising mail (regular bulk rate third-class) would be increased to a minimum of 5 cents per piece, plus additional increases for heavier weights.

Mailers holding bulk third-class permits would find their rates per pound raised from 16 and 22, to 22 and 28 cents per pound, respectively, when the proposal is full effected, the minimum per piece charge would be raised to 5 cents.

Special delivery and registered mail fees would both be increased. The minimum fee for a special delivery letter would rise from 45 to 60 cents, while the rate for registered mail valued at up to $100 would be increased from 80 to 95 cents under the proposal. There would be proportionate hikes in the fees for shipments registered at higher values.

When the proposed domestic changes go into effect, similar increases in letter mail rates to Canada and Mexico are planned.

The total yield under the proposal, when full effective, is estimated at $2,125.8 million, including all of the rates to be phased over a period of years.

In the first year $670 million of the $2,125.8 million would be provided from appropriations by Congress under the Postal Reorganization Act.

About 80 per cent of the nation's mail volume of nearly 90 billion pieces in fiscal year 1972 will be business-type mail, and the bulk of the increase would be borne by these users.

The entire rate package was presented to the Postal Rate Commission by the Postal Service, following a recent authorization from the Postal Service Board of Governors to seek increases.

'Void In Human Geography' Exists In Southeast Asia

WASHINGTON
"A void in human geography" plagues the American presence in Southeast Asia, writes Editor Gilbert M. Grosvenor in the March National Geographic.
"We do not really know these myriad people," he says. "We do not know whence they came; we are baffled by their thought processes; we find their customs difficult to understand; we are frustrated by their behavior."
To help fill in this void, the magazine's three lead articles on the troubled region are accompanied by a new ethnic map. "The Peoples of Mainland Southeast Asia" presents each of them -- major nationality groups and minor tribes -- in portrait and basic biography.
They include:
"Khmer: Four of every five residents of Cambodia descend from the people of the Khmer civilization, which flourished from the 8th to the 15th century. Today's Khmer villagers are efficient lowland rice farmers. Their crops bring the country more than a third of its foreign exchange."
"Cham: Chams of Viet Nam and Cambodia trace their ancestry to Champa, a kingdom that blended Hinduism and Islam. Now nearly all Moslems, they number 50,000 in Viet Nam and about 100,000 in Cambodia. Some Chams today seek political independence, hoping to revive the status of their fallen kingdom.

"Montagnards: Almost two million Mon-khmer and Cham-speaking tribesmen occupy the rugged backbone of Laos, Viet Nam, and Cambodia. Known collectively as Montagnards -- French for mountain men -- these isolated hill folk view with suspicion and distrust the lowland Vietnamese, who in turn regard them as savages.
"Rhade: Upland rice farmers of southern Viet Nam, the Rhade live in villages notable for their distinctive longhouses built on piles. Partitioned into areas for work, social gatherings, and storage, the structures also include compartments occupied by family units or older members of the household.
"Mnong Gar: One of the many Mnong-speaking groups of southern Viet Nam and Cambodia, the Mnong Gar cultivate dry rice by slash-and-burn agriculture, which they term 'eating the forest.' The men wear loin cloths and -- occasionally -- jackets, necklaces, and bracelets.
"For esthetic reasons they tie down their front teeth and insert ivory plugs in their ear lobes. Their villages, made up of communal longhouses each functioning as a separate political unit, closely resemble those of the Rhade.
"Siamese Thai: The name Siamese, here used for speakers of the central and southern Thai dialects, can also apply to all the peoples of historical Siam. Temple-monastery compounds in the villages reflect a centuries-old Buddhist tradition.
"For their livelihood, Siamese Thais depend almost entirely upon the cultivation of rice -- mostly raised in lowland paddies and harvested by hand. Lampshade-like hats identify Siamese Thai women.

"Lao: Thai-speaking Lao are closely related to the Siamese Thai, but differ in dialect and in their preference for eating sticky rice. The Siamese and Vietnamese regard the Lao as rustics. But not all Lao are rural; they form the majority in Vientiane, the administrative capital of Laos.
"An imposing Buddhist wat, or temple, dominates nearly every Lao village. Cultural and linguistic differences separate the Lao of northern Thailand from those of the northeast and Laos.
"Yao: Chinese use the name Yao to designate a scattered minority in southern China. These people, also found in northern Viet Nam, Laos, and Thailand, are called Man by the Vietnamese. Yao craftsmen produce not only the hill peoples' customary tools and weapons such as knives and crossbows, but also rifles and paper.
"The men traditionally wear black caps; Yao women often add red-plush collars to their garments.
"Meo: The color of a woman's dress often identifies the subgroup -- White, Red, Black, Flowered -- to which a Meo of Viet Nam, Laos, or Thailand belongs. The majority, however, live in southern China where they are called Miao.
"Men and women alike usually wear silver necklaces -- often with a chain looped across the opening. The elevations of their villages -- 3,000 to 6,000 feet -- favor the cultivation of opium poppies, their major cash crop.
"Black Thai: Rice - farming Black Thai, so called for the black garb of their women, dwell mainly in the upland valleys of northern Viet Nam and Laos. Similarly, clothing distinguishes Red Thai and White Thai.
"Among some of these groups in Viet Nam, family affiliation determines status and occupation. Thus, some families form a local political elite, while others furnish religious leaders, soldiers, artisans, or farmers."

TEXAS EXCITEMENT -- Three of the most popular rides at SIX FLAGS Over Texas are shown in action. At top is the Runaway Mine Train which annually carries more than 2 1/2 million riders. At center an authentic 1898 steam engine carries passengers over a narrow gauge track, which encircles the huge theme park. And, in the foreground is the SIX FLAGS Mini Mine Train, designed for the younger set.

Buckholts Chapter Has Fun FHA Week

March 27 - April 2 was set aside as National FHA Week, and the Buckholts FHA Chapter celebrated it with several events.
Hobo Day was declared March 27 and the girls set out in search of odd jobs to earn money to be used to send chapter delegates to the State FHA Convention.
Sunday the chapter attended services at St. Monica's Catholic Church in Cameron. Monday was designated as Western Day and the true Texan blood in FHA girls came shining through.
Tuesday was the teachers' day to enjoy when the chapter sponsored a coffee for the faculty in the Home Ec building. On Wednesday, designated as Careers Day, Mrs. Patsy Fuchs from Temple Beauty School presented a program and demonstration for the girls and faculty members in the homemaking department.

She expalined several aspects of beauty college training and demonstrated makeup and hair-styling on several students. A display containing information on many different careers was also set up in the high school building.
Dressing rooms in the gym were the targets for Thursday's work. FHA members spent part of their morning cleaning and repairing the girls' dressing rooms and adjoining areas.
The last day of FHA Week was dedicated to the first and second grade children. They were honored with a party during the last class period of the day. Refreshments were served and FHA's supervised games and activities.
The chapter is also proud to announce that two members, Martha Vaculin and Marcia Barkemeyer, are candidates for the State FHA Degree.

Alcoa Show Views Stock Car Driving

Stock car racing drivers are called "hard chargers" in the fast and fantastic world they inhabit, and as hard chargers, they participate monthly in more spills, wrecks, crashes, skids, and collisions than you can find in a year of freeway driving -- which is saying plenty. Yet these stock car drivers, whose wild and way-out lives are covered in the new Alcoa Hour T.V. Special, THE HARD CHARGERS, are far less subject to injury than professionals in many other sports, including football and hockey.
The show will be televised April 4 on Channel 42, Austin, from 9 to 10 p.m. and again on Tuesday, April 6, from 7 to 8 p.m. on Channel 6, Temple.
Chinese gold rush workers gathered jade at the diggings and shipped it to China, leaving the gold to the Americans.

Engineering Registration Law Upheld In Test Case

The Thirteenth Court of Civil Appeals rendered an opinion at Corpus Christi on March 25, 1971, in a landmark case supporting the Professional Engineering Registration law in Texas.
According to the State Board of Registration for Professional Engineers, this was the first test case of the Texas Engineering Practice Act to be pursued through appellate courts in this State.
This case affirmed a judgment granted in March, 1970, by the 94th District Court in Corpus Christi against Carl E. Tackett, who has been conducting a television repair business under the name Television Engineering Company.
The State Board alleged that Tackett had no Registered Engineers and was using this name in violation of the Texas Engineering Practice Act. The State was represented by Assistant Attorney General Sam L. Jones, Jr.
In this unanimous opinion written by Chief Justice Paul W. Nye, the Court recognized the Texas Legislature, in order to protect the public, had declared the practice of Engineering to be a learned profession to be protected and regulated as such.
The Court went on to say "The engineer in this State shall be held accountable to the State and to the members of the public by high professional standards in keeping with the ethics and practices of the other learned professions in this State. In order to maintain these high standards set by the Legislature, the Board is entitled to seek protection from our Courts from those who would violate the law."
The Court noted Tackett had utilized the word "Engineering" in his company name, signs, stationery, advertising and directory listings.
The State Engineer Board pointed out the effect of this opinion is to recognize the Legislature's intent that in Texas, the word "engineer" can be legally used only by those qualified persons who have been duly licensed by the Board of Registration. The Board expects this legal precedent will greatly assist its compliance and enforcement program.

Community Gets Involved In New Cameron Center

The community is getting involved in the Community Center thanks to the volunteer efforts of Mrs. John Moseley.

Senior Citizens will have activities at the center at least one day a week, craft sewing and children's dance classes are in the planning stage and inquiries are coming in to use the building for meetings and private receptions.

Mrs. Moseley, who has been active in Cameron Girl Scout Council volunteer work, was appointed director of the center at a recent meeting of the Housing Authority Board. She hopes to see the $53,000 building used by all ages, but will emphasize regular programs for senior citizens.

In a meeting last week with 10 Cameron adults, plans were formed to start a Games Day for senior citizens at 2 p.m. each Tuesday beginning this week.

"It will be informal," Mrs. Moseley said, "and participants can bring games they enjoy such as dominoes, cards or Scrabble." She said the group also plans a monthly covered dish dinner, the first one scheduled tentatively for April 13.

"We determined that the local senior citizens were interested in travel programs and programs on varied subjects such as flower arranging and crafts," Mrs. Moseley said. "They were also interested in having a place to work on Christmas sewing and toy repair projects in a group effort." She noted that she hoped individuals and clubs will offer to present some of these special interest programs.

Mrs. Moseley pointed out that the Civic Center has many needs before it can be used effectively. Banquet style seating is available for up to 48, but the center does not have card tables, cooking equipment, a stock of games or an adequate supply of dishes and silver.

"After our open house we received a donation of dishes and silver for about 30," Mrs. Moseley said, "but more is needed."

Guide lines for using the building have been set by the Housing Authority Board. The building will be free of charge when used for programs for the elderly or for special civic meetings. There will be a small charge for organizations wishing to use the building on a regular basis. Charge for renting the building for private social functions will vary from $2 to $5.50 per hour depending on the size of the group to use it.

Because of her volunteer status, Mrs. Moseley will not have regular office hours at present, but she can be contacted at her home telephone, 697-2569, if she is not at the Center.

Workers Receiving SS May Need To File A Report

"If you received monthly social security benefits in 1970 and you also worked, you may need to file an annual report of your earnings with the Social Security Administration," Ray Ward, Field Representative of the Temple Social Security District Office reminded people today.

"You can work and earn $1680 in a year, then one dollar of benefits is withheld for every $2.00 you earn up to $2880. If you earn over $2880, then one dollar of benefits is withheld for every one dollar you earn over $2880.

If your earnings were over $1680 in 1970, you must file an annual report with your nearest social security office by April 15, 1971. The law provides a penalty for failure to file an annual report on time. This penalty can be as high as three months benefit checks.

To figure your earnings in 1970, you count all earnings you had last year from employment and self-employment. Non-work income such as interest on savings accounts, investment income, or pensions does not count.

Ward explained that even if your earnings exceeded $1680 in 1970 you can still get a check for any month in which you did not earn over $140 and did not perform substantial services in self-employment. The annual earnings test does not apply to anyone over age 72 or anyone who receives disability benefits. Different rules apply for these people.

For further details or help in completing an annual report Ward suggests people contact their nearest social security office. The Temple social security office is located at 210 W. Central Avenue and is open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. The telephone number is 778-1861.
